The 1.400 pound shell from this new gun will leave the muzzle of the weapon at the rate of 2,000 feet per from the new 14-inch gun, that the at his new post. prejectile will be able to penetrate 22.7 inches of the latest Krupp steel less than 25 inches of Harvey nickel steel at the muzzle.

But this does not measure the full power of the gun for naval prposes, the muzzle penetration being merely a proving ground factor, for after the shot hurled from the 14-inch gun has traveled a distance of 3,000 yards it will still-have the remaining velocity of 2,234 feet a second, which would enable it to pierce at that distance a thickness of 18.7 inches of Krupp steel armor. After it has traveled 6,000 yards, or 3,000 yards distant, the shell will have a remaining velocity of 1,909 feet per second, giving it, at that range, a penetration of 18.7 inches of Krupp steel.

Now it has reached a point where the United States is constructing guns of 50-calibre length, which is the limit to which the guns can be developed. The shot projected from this new American 144inch gun will weigh 530 nounds more than the most powerful 12-inch gun now in the service of the American fleet on the target grounds below the Virginia capes. Stated another way, the new shell weighs more than a half fon and will be as tall as a man. After it is fired the shell will travel a distance of 542 inches within the bore of the gun. There the grooved and Juliet. rifling of the gun will impart a rotating motion, which will make the shell spin around rapidly on its flight through the air, and prevent the huge projectile from turning on end and losing its force.

RARE WASHINGTON RELIC.

Only One Known to Exist of Six Me dallions Made for Lafayette.

Mrs. F. Luis Mora of New York city, owns a Washington relic which, so far as is known, is the only one of its kind in existence. It is one of the six medallions which were made to order for General Lafavette.

Before Lafayette took leave of the officers of his staff, says the Circle, he had these medallions made in Paris, and presented them to the six officers immediately under him. The five others have disappeared and may have been destroyed. The one in Mrs. Mora's possession is made of cut glass bound by a heavy brim of solid gold, to which is attached a gold ring by which it may be suspended. Between the two layers of glass is a beautifully modelled head of Washington in plaster, silvered.

On the reverse is the inscription Desprez, Rue des Recolets No. 2, a Paris Wasington." Note the omission of the letter "h" in Washington.

The medallion came into Mrs. Mora's possession through her great grandfather, Lewis Compton, to whom it was presented soon after the Revolutionary war.

Promoting Smallpox Infection.

From the fact that smallpox which is very prevalent in the Philippines at certain seasons disappears when the rains set in, it has been argued that the germs are carried in the air. An additional circumstance which has the same apparent significance is reported from London. Hospital ships, to which smallpox patients are transferred, are anchored in the Thames below the city. It has been noticed that new cases break out more frequently on the shore to which the wind blows than on the other side.

Woman Who Gambles. Moralists say that the emotion of gaming makes women ugly. It is not necessary to take the word of the moralists for that. Gaming does not make women ugly, it unmasks them, and it is of that that they must be warned. It is natural enough, since they play passionately, and in playing they forget the world and their faces. So much the worse for those who do as Jezebel. Jean Lorrain has left terrible pictures of old painted faces, the natural condition of which is revealed by the excitement

A telgram was received by the manager of the Academy of Music from Greenville a few days ago and is as follows: "May Stewart more than pleased good audiences last (Signed) B. T. Whitmire, night. Mgr. Greenville, Opera House."

Miss Patra West, of Spartanburg, spent Friday night with her sister, Mrs. A. W. Shuler, of the Providence section, en route to Bowman to take charge of the primary department of the school there, which opened Monday.

Mr. M. L. Stroman, one of Orangeburg's cotton raisers, was in the city this week and said that when it comes to raising cotton he has the county beat. He was not so much on raising corn, but when it comes to cotton he does his share. He has planted 30 acres of cotton and has already gathered 35 bales, and is good for 40 more off the same land. He raises his own hay and hominy, too.

CHRISTIAN REID'S ALABAMA

Recalled by the Centenary of Semmes the Great Naval Hero.

Editor Charlotte Observer: Tomorrow, September 27, 1903, is the centenary of the Confederate admiral, Raphael Semmes, one of the great seafighters of history. No nobler tribute to this hero will ever be written than the heroic poem by North Carolina's beloved Christian Reid, which I enclose.

The Alabama.

Far away in foreign waters

There was vengeance in the name, And terror to the trader, In the Alabama's fame! Far beneath the Southern heavens, And beneath the Northern stars,

Did she bear unblenched the honor Of the banner of the bars! Where the bright sea of the tropics Lay a sheen of burning gold,

Where the icebergs of the Arctics Gleamed amid the frigid cold, Where the coral islands clustered In the purple Indian calm, Vhere the Mexican mountains bore aloft

Their coronals of palm.

Where the Africa headlands towered O'er the ocean's broad expanse, Where the laughing Southern waters kissed The sunny shores of France;

Vhere'er a Yankee vessel Spread her canvas to the breeze, she did well to watch the coming Of the ranger of the seas. She did well to read the warnings

Of the wrecks upon her path, Of the burning glow that lit the sky In sudden sign of wrath; She did well to reef her outspread sails.

And yield the hopeless fight, When the staunchest rover of the seas

Came bearing into sight. Ah, long shall dwell in tale and song The Alabama's famel

And men shall speak with glowing breath Her proud and spotless name! Long shall the story still be told Of how she swept the seas, And flung the starlight of our flag

To every ocean breeze! And honored long the lion-heart That o'er her held command. All honor to the dauntless breast,

The ever fearless hand! Thrice honored, too, the sword that rests

A thousand fathoms deep, Where surges foam and waters dash And winds above it sweep!

True to the very last, The Alabama died no death That could disgrace her past. The free child of the waters, She sank beneath the wave, And, with her flag still flying, found An unpoiluted grave
